THAT'S how I learned to respect the law.

Grandfather was a lawyer and he used to tell me stories about his clients. One day, he showed me a warrant for a criminal's arrest. He explained that if the criminal was not caught, the warrant would be useless. I thought it was a pretty frightening idea.

But my-aunt's washerwoman's son

I never really knew her name, but she was always kind to me. She used to bring me tea and cookies when I was sick. She also taught me how to make the perfect gingerbread cookie.

I'm grateful for all the people who have helped me along the way. It's important to remember that we're all connected and that we should help each other whenever we can.
