PUTTING YOUR TOWN ON THE MAP.

Are you helping to put your town on the map? Do you pull with the good citizens, or stand back and kick like a "Lambast Turk"? Poking your head into a separate room, and pulling against the justified views of the town, paces you nowhere and is a hindrance to the citizens who are real fighters.

Could you, in your narrow, selfish way, hope to put your town in the shade by holding back in town improvements; by pulling hard against public-spirited organizations; by keeping away from community gatherings; by clinging to the ideas in W. S. D., and the dollars in Liberty Loan Campaigns?

Try to head out of that now, fellow-citizens, and do all you can to make the other fellow free, and boldly stand by the booster and builder. Then all together—One, Two Three—Pull.

I AM PUBLIC OPINION.

All men fear me! I declare that Uncle Sam shall not go to his knees to beg men to buy his bonds. That is my position. For a fighting man. But if you have the money to buy and not to buy, I will make this No Man's Land for you!

I will judge you not by an allegation.

Expect more from me!

I will judge you not by your bad cheers.

As our boys march away to whatever fate may have in store for them.

I will judge you, not by the warmth of the tears you shed.

Over the lists of the dead and the injured that come to me. I'll judge you.

I will judge you, not by your uncovered Head and solemn mien as our maimed in battle return to our shores for loving care.

But, as wise as I am just, I will judge you by the material aid you give to the fighting men who are facing death that fate may have in store for them.

Expressed in mere words.

In the United States' National Museum, has been placed under the name of "The Elephant Terrible" a foetus of the Proboscidea, which was ordered by the government as a war trophy. It is now preserved in the Department of War.

It was a gift from the American Museum, as a symbol of our national prestige, and because of the great importance of the Proboscidea in the animal kingdom. It is a representative of a group of mammals which, in a general sense, are known as the "Elephant," and is of great interest to students of the animal kingdom.

"The Elephant Terrible" is a specimen of the Proboscidea, the order of mammals which includes the elephant, the rhinoceros, and the proboscidian. It is a representative of the Proboscidea, which is a family of mammals characterized by a long trunk and a large body.

The specimen is a fossil, and was discovered in the Western States of the United States, in the region of the present Oregon and Washington. It is preserved in the Department of War, and is a valuable contribution to the study of the Proboscidea.

The specimen was presented to the United States government by the American Museum of Natural History, and was brought to this country by the government as a war trophy.

Florida's crop of oranges and grapefruit is not only larger, but gives greater returns than ever before.

The buying capacity of the public is greater and the consumer demand for these fruits will be increased tremendously. The educational work which the Florida Citrus Exchange is doing is to inform the people of the public and its health values.

Under these circumstances, the Exchange believes that again it will be able to offer satisfactory prices for good fruit, well packed. Certainly there is nothing in the outlook to justify growers in selling their fruit for less than $0.25.

If you want your good fruit to bring as much as it should, to know just what it sells for, where, and who to whom, and how much, and at the right time, send for the Exchange for full particulars.

Winter Park Honor Roll

The name of the parchment paper and the gold lettering is inscribed on this page of a very special roll, a roll of honor located at the center of the Florida State Capitol in Tallahassee, Florida. The roll bears the names of those who have served in the United States military and who have been killed or died of wounds in service. The roll is a permanent reminder of the sacrifice made by these individuals and is a symbol of their dedication to their country. The roll is open to the public and is a popular stop for visitors to the Capitol. It is a fitting tribute to the brave men and women who have given their lives in service to their country.

Gone was delivered two interesting sermons in September at the First Baptist church in Winter Park. They were written in a spirit of soberness, and discussed the social and political problems of the day. The sermons were well received in Winter Park and were followed by a series of popular addresses, which were listened to with great interest by Winter Park people at the time of the W. C. T. U. meeting held on Tuesday, October 2nd.

One of the most interesting addresses of the season was given by Dr. Mecca Marie Varney, one of the strongest women speakers on the platform. She will give a popular address on October 9th, at 7:30 p.m., at the Social Club auditorium, Winter Park.

WINTER PARK PUBLIC SCHOOL OPEN.

The public school opened today with an enrollment of 237 for the winter term. Prof. H. A. Ward, principal, opened the term with an appropriate address which was followed by the reading of roll call and the taking of a roll. The address was given by Prof. H. W. Woodworth, president of the Board of Trustees, who said:

"The students, as a class, have done good work in the past year and have shown great promise of doing well in the future. They have been attentive and have given much time to study. The school has been well conducted and the instruction given has been satisfactory. The pupils are well behaved and have shown great interest in their work. The parents of the pupils are to be commended for their efforts to bring up good citizens. The school is well supported and the future looks bright for the school."

The roll call was then taken and the members present were introduced to the principal. The school was then opened and the pupils proceeded to their rooms. The school is well equipped and the facilities are excellent. The principal is well qualified and the pupils are well behaved. The school is well supported and the future looks bright for the school."
