AUSPICIOUS EXERCISES MARK CLOSE OF ROLLINS COLLEGE

NEW BUSINESS HOUSE OPENS NEXT WEEK

The handsome new brick business house of R. F. M. Construction Company is being completed and will be opened for business next week. The building is located on the corner of Mills and Palmetto Avenues. The structure is of the latest architectural style and will be a noted feature of the business section of the city. The new building will be a great addition to the business life of the city and will be a fitting monument to the enterprising spirit of the business men of Winter Park.

Bacheller Film

"Lilac" Here Soon

Through the efforts of Mr. E. H. Flagg, manager of the Winter Park Theatre, a fine film will be shown in the coming weeks. The film, "Lilac," is a production of the Pathé Film Company and is considered one of the finest films of the season. It is a beautiful story of love and romance, and will be a treat for the eyes of those who enjoy films. The film will be shown at the Winter Park Theatre next week.

Local Team Beaten in Last Week's Games

The local team was defeated by the visiting team from Rollins College in a recent game. The game was played on the Rollins College campus and was a close contest. The local team fought hard, but were unable to overcome the superior talent of the visiting team. The game was a great disappointment to the local fans, who had been looking forward to a victory.

Mass Meeting Endorses Fine New Road System

The Mass Meeting held in the town hall on Monday evening was a great success. The meeting was called to order by Mr. J. H. Williams, the chairman, and was attended by a large number of citizens. The meeting was called to order by Mr. J. H. Williams, the chairman, and was attended by a large number of citizens. The keynote of the meeting was the endorsement of the fine new road system that is being constructed. The road system is being built with the finest materials and is designed to meet the needs of the community. The meeting was a great success and was attended by a large number of citizens.

The Winter Park Theatre

A small local newspaper office is associated with the Winter Park Theatre, which is located at the corner of Mills and Palmetto Avenues. The office is operated by Mr. J. H. Williams, who is the manager of the theatre. The office is a fine example of modern newspaper office design and is equipped with the latest in typewriting and printing equipment. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and is a fitting tribute to the enterprising spirit of the town.

Definite Turn For Better Business

While at one time the future for the winter trade had been taken apparently by some branches of industry, and business outlooks for the season continue generally more favorable, there is but little prospect of "an immediate sharp improvement of conditions," the federal reserve board declared in its review of the The empirical and economical situation throughout the country during May.

However, it added, the more hopeful attitude which has shown itself among business men recently has continued and is presaging the way for progressive development in some industries.

Financically, the month was one of increasing strength and of more prosperous outlook, the board asserted. In various sections of the country it was reported the adjustment of business in all lines, new business houses are being opened, hotels are be-

DECISION IMPORTANT TO CITRUS INDUSTRY

A decision of great importance to the interests of the citrus industry was rendered in the federal court of United States for the district of Florida in the case of the plaintiff, the city of Winter Park, against the grocery dealer known as the Walters Grocery Co.

The court sustained all the claims of the plaintiff, enjoining and restraining the defendant and its employees from continuing to sell the defendant’s trademarked products. The case was appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which affirmed the ruling.

To Our Friends and Patrons

It is with regret that we announce the severance of Mr. W. T. Goodyear's connection with the Winter Park Pharmacy. His going means the loss of a friend of Winter Park, and a loyal supporter of its best interests.

However, in his going, the town acquires no less loyal addition to its' business interests in the person of Albert E. Hotard.

The store will continue to serve you to the best of its ability.

The Interests of the Town Are Our Interests—we have no others

Every penny of our profits will be re-invested in Winter Park, for its growth and prosperity are linked with ours.

Improvements in the store and fixtures will be forthcoming and we solicit a continuance of your patronage.

The College Pharmacy will remain closed during the summer months, but will re-open in September.

We Are In Business for Your Health

And will safeguard your interests to the best of our ability, for we fully realize that in doing so we are conserving our own.

GIVE YOUR CHILDREN
A BETTER CHANCE THAN YOU HAD

When all's said and done, the greatest piece of work: that a man has in life is to provide for his family.

If a man and woman can start their children farther along the road than they themselves started, their lives have been successful.

You want your children to be free from the handicap of poverty, don't you? You want them to have education, comforts and opportunity for advancement.

Then the path lies clear before you. A little money invested each week at The Bank of Winter Park will build up and double itself by the time your children are old enough to need it most.

Aunque el nuevo inquilino era un forastero, la madre de Robert Emmet Mo- ran, había sido una amiga de la familia. Robert, de apenas trece años, era conocido como el "Shepherd of the Birds". Sus propiedades incluían el disfrute de su antena, aunque también tenían un perro que le acompañaba en sus caminatas. El perro se llamaba "Pauline" y se había convertido en "provincial". Pauline Baker, la niña que cuidaba de él, se había quedado en Bingville, buscando ser "el ideal de una muchacha grande".

Cuando llegó el invierno, el estado de noches era tan frío que Rober Emmet y su madre temían por su bienestar. La casa, que había sido una mansión de dos pisos, ahora se encontraba en un estado de desorden. Las ventanas estaban rotas y la casa parecía vacía. El padre de Robert, el Sr. Moran, había decidido que él y su familia se mudarían a un lugar más lejos.

CAPÍTULO TERCERO

Winter Park, que se encontraba en el condado de Orange, era la casa de Robert Emmet Moran. Era un lugar en el que había nacido y había vivido su familia desde generaciones atrás. Sin embargo, el Sr. Moran, que era un hombre de principios, había decidido que era hora de mudarse para buscar un lugar más seguro.

CAPÍTULO TERCERO

Winter Park, that was the name of the city where Robert Emmet Moran was born and had lived since childhood. It was a place where his family had lived for generations. However, Mr. Moran, who was a man of principle, had decided it was time to move to a safer place.

IN THE "LAND OF THE SKY"

Mrs. J. A. McLeod and her daughter, Miss Edith Hunter, are spending the summer in the "Land of the Sky," as they call it. They have been spending the whole summer there, and the mountain air has been doing the world of good for them and their health. They have been taking long walks in the mountains, and have been spending most of their time in the mountains. They have been going up to the mountains every day, and have been spending all their time there.
