NEW ART EXPERIMENTS AT RESEARCH STUDIO

The present exhibition of recent experiments now on view at the Research Studio is the third and last of the series for this season. Similar in nature to the one given last April, it shows some of the experimental work that has been done by the resident artists under the general direction of Andre Smith.

Artists who are invited to become guests of the Research Studio are for periods varying from a month to the full four-month season, that is, from January to May. They are selected by Mr. Smith on the strength of their qualifications as professional artists who are already established in the American Art world. During their residence they are free to work as they please; but much as the underlying spirit of the Research Studio is to encourage the adventurous attitude of experimentation, these artists who are creative workers rather than mere picture-makers, are ready enough...

TO UNVEIL PORTRAIT OF DEAN CAMPBELL

A beautiful portrait of the Rev. Dr. Charles Atwood Campbell, portraying him in his Chapel robes and in a characteristic mood, will be unveiled in Knowles Memorial Chapel at Rollins College on Easter Sunday, immediately after the morning service.

The portrait, by Jean Jacques Pflister, will remain in the Chapel as a memorial to the late Dr. Campbell who "gave the best years of his life to Rollins College, to the people of Winter Park and to the many thousands from remote parts, who shared the inspiration of his ministry."

"It is fitting," said Dr. Holt in making the announcement, "that there should be in the Chapel a memorial of this beloved man, his first Dean, to remind us of the worshipers of his noble work and encomiums."

Mr. Pflister's portrait of Dean Campbell has been secured by a number of his friends in Winter Park...

EASTER 1939

"The Lord is ris'n!" His praise is ringing,
But in my soul is naught but shame.
Blood fills the world and tears drop stinging
And at the altar this loud singing
Seems like an insult to His name.
And should he choose the worthy from us
Who should eternal light attain,
He would but find hate has overcome us
And brothers wracked to His pain;
And should He come to where is ringing
"The Lord is ris'n!" from one and all
Before the host that tears drop stinging
Would fill His eyes and tears at our fall!

A gracious contributor to Rollins, Mrs. Strong has assisted numerous Rollins students to acquire an education in spite of financial difficulties.

Formal presentation of the proposed building was made by Mrs. Strong at the ceremony, President Hamilton Holt, in a brief address of acceptance, said "Strong Hall is the latest fulfillment of the architectural ideal of Rollins College to serve as a beautiful home...

Winter Park
One of Winter Park's latest homes in the modern manner—the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Pratt

HYDE PRATT ON VIA TUSCANY is another addition to the list of modernistic houses in Winter Park. Its site is one of the most desirable in Central Florida—on high ground overlooking Lake Maitland, one of the most beautiful and largest of our lakes.

Questioned as to the architectural style of the house, Mr. Pratt said, "I would call it 'sanely modern'. What modern architecture may mean to others I don't know. To me it means an attempt to go back to first principles, and to apply those principles to meeting present day needs with present day materials. It means gaining beauty from simple lines and correct proportions rather than from trimmings and ornaments which are not a part of the structure. It means a home built to live in, devoid of make-believe or imitation.

"The old styles of architecture were founded on the necessities of their time. Outside columns, thick walls, deep-set barred windows were used, not for the sake of appearance but because they were considered necessary. Ceilings were built high because that was the only means then known for making rooms cool in summer. Roofs were made steep, not for the sake of appearance but because they were considered necessary. Gasolene lamps were used, not for the sake of appearance but because they were considered necessary. Gasolene lamps? Why not simply make electric lamps which are as efficient and beautiful as possible? To use modern methods and materials in a straightforward, honest way—that, I think, is modern architecture.

"In planning the present house, our objective was to have a few spacious and conveniently arranged rooms with a maximum of light and ventilation and a good view of the lake. If that has been attained, we are satisfied. We have used materials easily obtained right here in Florida, and methods which assure a cool home in summer and warmth in winter. Some corner windows have been employed because we feel that a room so treated gains more air and light with less sacrifice of wall space.

"We have not had the slightest desire to build a "show place" nor to do anything "freaky". Neither desire to build a "show place" nor that other styles are not beautiful. But I believe that we have a substantial and comfortable home which will be easy to live in, and which is suited to our needs and location, and I hope that our friends will like it, as I am sure we shall.

"The house was designed and working drawings made by B. M. Aubrey of Birmingham and Bay City, Michigan. Richard Boone Rogers of Orlando was the supervising architect and C. A. Voorhees the general contractor. To all of these, and to the sub-contractors, I wish to extend my thanks for their fine cooperation."

The details of the Pratt home are as follows: Two stories and basement. Three bedrooms, two baths and many closets on the second floor, and on the first floor an entrance hall, living room, dining room and a study which, with its bath, can be used as an emergency bedroom. Also a kitchen, 2 maid's rooms and bath, store room, laundry and a two car garage. Floors are of oak, and flush doors of birch and steel casement windows are used throughout the house. The oil burning furnace and water heater are in the basement. Water for irrigating the grounds is obtained from the lake by an electric pump. The decorating and furnishing is being done by the owners.

Among the sub-contractors engaged in the construction of the Pratt residence were: Mutual Millwork Co., master woodwork; J. S. Pope Electric Co., wiring; A. R. Grant, painting; Tropical Arts, landscape and gardening; Knox Stores Co., Hardware.

Mrs. H. K. Babcock of Neenah, Wis., is arriving next week to spend the balance of the month with her brother, Mr. Harold S. Lyons.

The exhibition held during the past week-end at the studio of E. Todd Little & Son of the water colors of Mr. Harold Hilton attracted much favorable comment and was viewed by over 800 persons. The sketches, 70 in number, were done on a tour through the English countryside, and were notable for their strong colors and masterlyexecution. The famed Lake Regions of England and the Shakespeare country were featured, making the show of unusual interest to those who have visited those regions.

SPANISH MOSS HELD

Many of the trees for the reason that they are now altogether too close together. Our investigation satisfies us that the trees, when mature, should not be nearer togethet than about seventy feet.

"Our investigation also satisfies us that our trees are really suffering, not because of the moss, but because they are not receiving sufficient nourishment through the roots. Probably a very clear proof of this could be found in the case of the large tree which went down last year near the Virginia Inn. An examination of the root structure showed that very few of the roots were alive. The remainder of them were dry and a good deal like wool in a bag. The appearance of the upper part of the tree, we advised, gave no evidence of the likelihood of this tree going over.

"The Committee is fully of the opinion that you are justified in adhering to your present policy. We see no reason for removing the moss except to please those who are of the opinion that the trees look better without it.

"We presume your decision in such cases will be to advise parties who may complain of the moss in front of their property that the City will be willing to remove the moss if the owner of the property assumes the cost.

"Should it develop, however, that the consensus of opinion, as you are able to obtain it, is that the moss should be removed, either because complaints do not agree with the experts, or in order that the trees may have a cleaner and more attractive appearance, then you and the Commissioner will probably come to the conclusion that the only thing which can be done is to add a slight tax on all real estate sufficient to enable you to make a substantial beginning."

NEW ART EXPERIMENTS
to make the advantage of the opportunity to work along lines that for one reason or another they have not had time to follow. The result of such an attitude of "release" is evident in the exhibition now on view. And it is a very stimulating showing, and is hung, as usual, with the ample spacing that the attractive galleries of the Research Studio makes possible.

Reviewing the exhibition season of 1939, Mr. Andre Smith expressed his pleasure in the enthusiastic response to the Research Studio exhibitions.

"This series of exhibitions has been in the nature of a tryout. We have been anxious to test the taste of our visitors in order to find out whether or not the more advanced point of view in art for which the Research Studio stands would find an interested and sympathetic audience. The large attendances in response to our invitations would indicate that such an audience does exist. Many, no doubt, have come here out of curiosity, to see the work of those alert people who can share new ideas and their ideas the enthusiastic encouragement that they deserve."

The present exhibition will continue through the tenth of April. The galleries will be open to its invited guests in the afternoon from two until six.

STUDIO CLUB SHOWS
FAMOUS PRINTS

The Rollins College art gallery will be open to the public on Tuesday, April 11, and Friday, April 14, from 2:45 P. M. to 6:00 P. M., when the Studio Club of the College exhibits the Rollins Print Collection.

Prof. Hugh McKeen will lecture on the collection at 2:45 Tuesday afternoon, and Miss Virginia Robie will speak Friday at 2:45.

Represented in the collection, which has never been displayed to the public before, are originals by Whistler, Millet, Goya, Masnet, Meryon and many other famous artists. On sale will be a reproduction of Meryon's fine print, "Rues Des Toiles Bourges".

RANDOM NOTES

The etchings of Ruth Doris Swartwout are now being shown at the Sandspur Book Shop as a group and several have been on view at the Bookery this last week. In a letter to a collector, Bertha E. Jaques, famous Chicago etcher, wrote the following high praise about the small dry point called "Long Leafed Pine and Cones". "It has the velvety quality of a Dry Point and is one of the most satisfactory interpretations of pines I have ever seen."

There is an exhibition of charming water colors and etchings of Nantucket and Old Philadelphia at the Sandspur Bookshop this week.

New Girls Dormitory

for Rollins girls for generations to come.

The new dormitory is a notable increase in the physical facilities of Rollins College and represents the most important development of the year. It will fulfill President Hamilton Holt's ambition to house all boarding students on the campus. The building will be constructed in the beautiful Spanish Mediterranean type of architecture to harmonize with the four other units of one and two story construction built around a large and home-like accommodations, for twenty-four students, the building will contain a large living room with kitchenette facilities, a master's room and office, a guest room, and a library and lounging room. Strong Hall was designed by Richard Kiehnel of Miami, Fla.

Construction will begin immediately, and the building will reach completion by September.

Making it Attractive
To Stay April and May
Another reason for more people staying later into April and May is the excellent one of economy. With the inevitable exodus of the heavy tourist trade the buildings and rooms available for short term leases, Mrs. George Coffing Warner, has announced a reduction of rates in her properties, all of which are in desirable locations. For the further convenience of her tenants, excellent home cooking service is available.

The fact is that if one once stays late into April, he is likely to see that Florida is really an ideal all-year round climate—and he will probably wind up by becoming a 1939 "cracker!"

ETERNAL VIGILANCE
Not only Liberty but almost everything else that is worth while has to be paid for by eternal vigilance.

To provide you with the highest grade milk necessitates eternal vigilance on our part, and we want the public to know that we accept the responsibility.

Our milk comes from the best kept farms in Central Florida, and we have led the way consistently in the adoption of the most up-to-date and sanitary methods of handling at every step from the farm right to your door.
